As may be seen from the protruding foot of the dead driver (arrow) he was literally knocked out of his shoes by the impact. Oster Retires as School Administrator

The resignation of John Oster as superintendent of the New Lenox grade schools came as a surprise to everyone except himself.

Born in southern Illinois in the portion known as "Egypt," Mr. Oster came to New Lenox 16 years ago from the Sugar Creek school district in Kanke county.

When he took over at New Lenox there was one building, the Haven school, 250 pupils, and a staff of seven and a half teachers. He was the half, meaning that he devoted half of his time to teaching and the remainder to his administrative duties.

Now there are two schools—Haven and Oakview—860 pupils and a staff of 29 teachers. Supt. Oster no longer teaches. He doesn't have time. His working hours are taken up with supervisory activities and plans for future referendums on taxes, bonds and buildings, and his leisure time is more of the same.

When he handed the school board his resignation at its meeting last week—it was too late for last's paper—Supt. Oster said he had no plans. His relations with the board are of the best nor is there any segment of the district population baying at his heels as the vanguard of a "let's-get-the-superintendent-movement."

Supt. Oster's relations with the public, like those with the school board, are excellent.

He did say to the board that if he were to receive the offer of a teaching post that was acceptable he might take it. He thinks teaching is the prime objective of an educational system. There have been three additions to Oakview school and with the district's enrollment growing at a steady pace there will be more schools to be built in the not too distant future, it was pointed out, and more elections to increase taxes to provide the additional teachers that will be required as well as the cost of operation which will also rise.

Supt. Oster confided to associates that he is growing weary of this phase of education and would rather devote his time to teaching. He has been a teacher for 26 years. Unless he should take a teaching post which would require his removal to another community, Supt. Oster indicated he would continue to make New Lenox his home.

Mrs. Oster is a teacher in the New Lenox system and plans to continue as such, unless, of course they move away.

Supt. Oster has been quite active in community and civic affairs and the board is accepting his resignation with real regret.

Driver Dies in Truck-Train Collision Near Orland Park

A truck driver was killed, a locomotive engineer and firemen suffered minor injuries but the train passengers escaped hurt when a Wabash passenger train, No. 111, and a truck loaded with steel plates, collided at 12:05 p.m. Monday. The accident occurred on the 159th street crossing near 104th ave., Orland township. The train was traveling south, the truck was going west. Neither the engine nor any of the passenger cars were derailed.

Driver of the truck was Daniel G. Walters, 43, who lived on Rt. 1, Canton, Ill. He was believed to have been instantly killed.

Jesse Steidinger, 69, the engineer, and Arthur Heim, 47, the fireman, both of Decatur, were taken to the Oak Forest Infirmary where they were treated and released. They were bruised and shaken.

The train, out of Chicago arrived at Orland Park at 12:01 (daylight saving time) and at approximately 12:05 arrived at the 159th street crossing.

According to investigators a person traveling west on 159th street could see a southbound train coming for at least a quarter of a mile. A railroad representative said that the flasher signals were in operation as the train approached the crossing. The train was said to have been traveling about 70 miles an hour.

It was reported that the truck—a big flat bed attached to a tractor—left about 25 feet of skid marks before it was on the tracks. The locomotive struck the trailer part of the vehicle and the impact is believed to have flipped the heavy load in the air and when it came down it was parallel with the tracks and west of the crossing. The trailer was still attached to the tractor. A set of wheels from the trailer were lying on the east side of the tracks. The driver was thrown out of the cab and was lying across a signal control box when he was picked up by a rescue squad from the Orland Park fire department and placed in an ambulance. Walters was taken to the Oak Forest Infirmary where he was pronounced dead on arrival but it is believed that he was instantly killed.

The front of the diesel locomotive was torn away. It was finally hauled back onto a side track north of 143rd street and a fresh engine was brought to the scene. The train resumed its run about 2:30.

Mokena Fire Dist. Case Gets Hearing on May 28

Fred Clark will represent the Mokena fire department at the hearing in the Will county court May 28 at which time the judge is to rule on the petition and boundaries for the proposed Mokena fire protection district.

If approved a date for a referendum will be set by the court. On that day the voters of the proposed district voice their sentiments. If voted in the court will then appoint three trustees to administer the affairs of the district.

A fire protection district can levy a tax for the upkeep and operation of the fire department. At present the department operates on funds it raises thru solicitation, dances or other endeavors.

Orland Park's fire department is also considering a similar move as it is in the same situation as the Mokena department. At a meeting of the Mokena fire department last week amendments to the by-laws were approved and they will be distributed among the members in the near future.

The report of Chief Carrol Roberts disclosed that in April the department extinguished five grass fires, a kitchen fire, stood by when a gas valve broke, made three inhalator runs and one accident call.

The department hopes to recruit new members soon as it is in need of more men, especially during the day shift. Men interested may contact Chief Roberts.

To date the department has received only 55% of the possible returns from the dance tickets mailed out. People can still send in their donations, Chief Roberts said.

Smoke Downs Five Firemen

Heavy smoke resulting from a basement fire in Cherry Hill sent five New Lenox volunteer firemen to Silver Cross hospital early Monday morning. They responded quickly to treatment and none had to be hospitalized.

The fire was discovered about 1:30 Monday morning in the home of George Reiter, 203 Montith drive. Fire Chief Frank Vally said that apparently the blaze started from defective wiring in the floor joists and set insulation smoldering.

Firemen confined the blaze to the basement altho there was some smoke damage to other parts of the house. The fire did generate a lot of smoke, too much for five of the firemen, Dale Drake, 39, Robert Randolph, 39, George Krohn, 34, George Ellis, 28, and Carl Carlson 27.

The chief estimated the damage from the fire is about $450.

Interview Candidates for Summit Hill School Post

Members of the Summit Hill district board of education which operates the grade school in Arbury Hills are busy this week interviewing candidates for superintendent.

There were 14 applications to begin with and the candidates were referred to a screening committee selected by the board for the purpose. Out of the 14 applicants the committee selected five and these are the ones that are being interviewed by the board. The selections were based on the credentials submitted by the colleges or universities attended by the applicants.

The screening committee chosen by the board for this assistance was comprised of County Superintendent Verne E. Cracker; A. Hunter Chapman, superintendent of Lincoln-Way high school, and Ben A. Sylla, associate director of the Illinois School Board Association.

Besides the task of selecting a school superintendent the board is also embarking on an expansion program. This involves the planning, including the financing and construction of facilities to meet the district's immediate needs due to the increase in the number of children of school age as well as the future. There is a large increase in the number of

Drop Plan for Subdivision

The Barr-Vavrus interests now indicate that they will defer for some years their project to develop 450 new homes in the area adjacent to the western boundary of New Lenox. Their decision was based on what they believed to be a critical and uncooperative attitude on the part of certain village groups.

The Barr-Vavrus proposition was to annex to the village and to build and turn over to the village without cost a sewer system to serve their Farmington Subdivision. Farmington was planned for 450 homes to be developed in 10 years. In addition to their basic sewer system, they would contribute $150 per home to a fund for increasing the size of the sewage disposal plant. The new homes would pay sewer rents at the regular rate and these rents plus tax items would help pay for sewer bonds already issued by the Village.

The proposed, also, to build and turn over to the Village a water system to serve the Farmington area only. This water system would not be free, however, since Barr-Vavrus would expect the village to collect and turn over to them all revenues from this water system for a limited period (approximately 10 years) as payment.

The amounts to be collected and returned in this way were estimated as 50 percent of the installed cost of the water system. Some village groups objected to any refund of this kind. Another point of difference was a suggested contribution to the cost of additional school facilities.

When you build a quality truck, the inclination is to run around asking users what they think of it. We do quite a bit of this.

It's a funny thing. You'd think people would talk mostly about the mechanical features of the vehicle—the good ride, its power, the double-wall construction, cab comfort, or tough tailgate.

These things get comment, of course, but they're consistently outnumbered by expressions of satisfaction with the dependability of a Chevrolet truck. Its greatest single asset seems to be the fact that it does its job well day after day without a lot of fuss or attention—and that's what impresses people the most.

Quality is the key to reliability. The next time you have to buy a truck, call your Chevrolet dealer and make your money go farther.

Public Expresses Opinions

Congressman Edward J. Derwinski (4th Dist.) who represents a large and varied population including the residents of Bremen, Orland, Worth, Palos and Lemont townships has just released the results of his annual poll of his constituents for the purpose of getting their opinions and sentiments.

He has sent a copy of the results to the office of the President but it is not likely that he nor any of his command nor the heads of any bureau would be swayed by the findings revealed thru this poll.

More likely they would be inclined to dismiss it, pointing out that it was only the voice of a single district in Illinois and a district that in the past has been Republican, as far as congressional races are concerned.

We believe, however, that one will hear the sentiments voiced in this district are echoed in many other districts in the state and nation.

The replies revealed sweeping opposition to federal aid for education or to withholding income tax from dividends and interest, or the attempts to abolish the un-American Activities committee or giving aid to Communist countries or to giving the federal government control over medical care to the aged.

Most of those who answered the questionnaire sent out by Congressman Derwinski last January favored any steps necessary to maintain our superiority in nuclear weapons. They also expressed a strong desire for a balanced budget.

There were 18 questions asked. Believing that the public is interested in the nature of the questions and replies, we give you the results here...

	YES	NO	NOT SURE
1. Do you think there should be another "summit conference" between Khrushchev and the President?	35%	54%	11%
2. Should Communist countries receive foreign aid funds?	3%	92%	5%
3. Should the house committee on Un-American Activities be abolished?	5%	86%	9%
4. Should loyalty oaths be mandatory for students participating in federally financed educational programs?	83%	9%	8%
5. Do you favor a federal aid to education program for:
a. school construction and teachers' salaries for public schools?	26%	66%	8%
b. private as well as public schools?	12%	83%	5%
6. Do you consider the activities of the Communist party in the U.S. to be a major internal threat?	80%	12%	8%
7. Is the UN doing a good job?	26%	47%	27%
8. Do you favor sending armed forces to Cuba to free the people from Castro without waiting any longer?	20%	62%	18%
9. Should Red China be admitted to the UN?	12%	79%	9%
10. Should the U.S. take all necessary steps to maintain our nuclear weapons superiority?	96%	1%	3%
11. Do you believe the federal budget should be kept in balance?	90%	3%	7%
12. Should income tax be withheld from interest and dividends received from savings and investments?	19%	75%	6%
13. Should the earnings limit of social security pensioners be raised?	77%	14%	9%
14. Should medical care for the aged, who are actually in need, be left to the administration of the respective states?	66%	24%	10%
15. In general, do you feel there are enough laws regulating business?	67%	16%	17%
16. In general, do you feel there are enough laws protecting union members from labor bosses?	17%	71%	12%
17. Do we have a firm enough foreign policy?	8%	78%	14%
18. Are you willing to pay 5¢ for first class and 8¢ for air mail letters to cut the $900 million postal deficit?	66%	30%	4%

Some of the comments received from those replying to the questionnaire provide some additional light on the thinking of the American taxpayers. Some samples:

"... Too much double talk and too much secrecy in government--the people have a right to know everything... Eliminate subsidies on farm products... this raises the price to the consumer... Does our foreign policy have any regard for the liberties on Americans or is all for the foreigners?... A family is expected to live within its income and had better do so. Why can't you birds in government do the same... A more vigorous stand against Communism is needed at home and abroad... No payraise for congressmen... Utilize schools 12 months a year. This will lessen for more school construction... Keep Red China out of the UN... Keep the women at home instead of competing with men for jobs. Why not a law banning automation..."

Congressman Derwinski acknowledges that in the final analysis he has full responsibility for the votes he casts. Despite popular belief our government is a Republic, not a Democracy, and members of congress may vote--they should vote--for what they believe to be for the best interests of their people and the nation. They appreciate, however, an expression of opinion on public matters and always welcome letters and cards from their constituents. Sometimes you folks at home help them make up their minds, especially on matters that are highly controversial.

stood for over half a century. In 1917 government expenditures jumped to $1.9 billion -- and by the end of the first World War had reached $18.5 billion. During World War II, Federal expenditures reached the all-time high of $98.4 billion -- a million dollars every five minutes and 24 seconds! That record still stands; but beginning next July 1, it could be a different story.

TAX AND TAX -- SPEND AND SPEND: Our American governments, federal, state, and local during 1961 took $1 out of every $3 of the national income. The total tax take was $150 billion. For 1962 spending by government, national, state, and local, is expected to amount to $162 billion. This will be about 35% of the total national income.

In the old days, before the New Deal, it was said that when government takes one dollar out of every four dollars of a nation's income, trouble is bound to follow. We have now gone beyond this point. What lies ahead?

THEN AND NOW: One hundred years ago, when we were in the midst of the Civil War, the Federal government was spending a million dollars every 12 1/4 hours. Sounds high?? Under the $92.5 billion budget proposed for the 1962-63 fiscal year, the U. S. government plans to spend a million dollars every five minutes and forty seconds! The current trend of government spending is 127 times as fast as 100 years ago. In fiscal 1862-63 the federal government spent a total of $1.3 billion -- a record that Column writing is not likely to ever become big business but it seems to be everybody's. A week rarely goes by but that the mail does not contain a letter and a sample column -- the letter to the effect that in exchange for a certain amount of legal tender the writer would be willing to continue with the output as long as one wants.

In addition to such offers from individuals one also receives offers from the various newspaper syndicates with columns for sale, usually by or at least prepared in the name of some widely known person. Naturally there is a contract and a price connected with these propositions. Usually the price is based on circulation -- with the circulation broken up in brackets and a price for each. Thus, a paper with a small circulation could buy Ed Sullivan, say, for a lot less than one of the big papers. Cartoons and strips hawked by the syndicates are sold the same way... But you don't really have to buy columns... slathers of them come free... Press agents have taken to this device to keep the names of their clients -- whether people or corporations -- before the public without paying regular rates for advertising.

This being an age of specialization, column conducting has also been infected by the virus. There are many types of columns today but broadly speaking one can lump them into three general classifications -- the general, the subject, such as sports, medicine, politics, etc., and the gossip column. Sometimes conductors endeavor to produce all three in one. Some columns deal with a variety of subjects some are devoted to one.

The gossip columns also deal in the wheeling and dealing of entertainers and the big names in business and the arts in their legitimate endeavors as well as their extra-curricular affairs. Such columns are written in the big cities syndicated to the provinces.

One reason for gossip columns to write about the doings of celebrities, of course, is to sell papers. The other reason is that it is safer. Celebrities are celebrities as long as their names appear before the public. So they take the nasty along with the nice and seldom go so far as to sue altho

WHAT IS A GRAND JURY?
Harry Brown has just been summoned for jury duty and he's quite proud of it. He is talking to his friend, attorney Frank Gordon, about what to expect when he reports at the courthouse Monday morning.

"I hope I'm selected to sit in an interesting criminal case," says Harry.

"What makes you think you are going to serve on a petit jury at all?" says Frank. "You might very well be chosen for the grand jury."

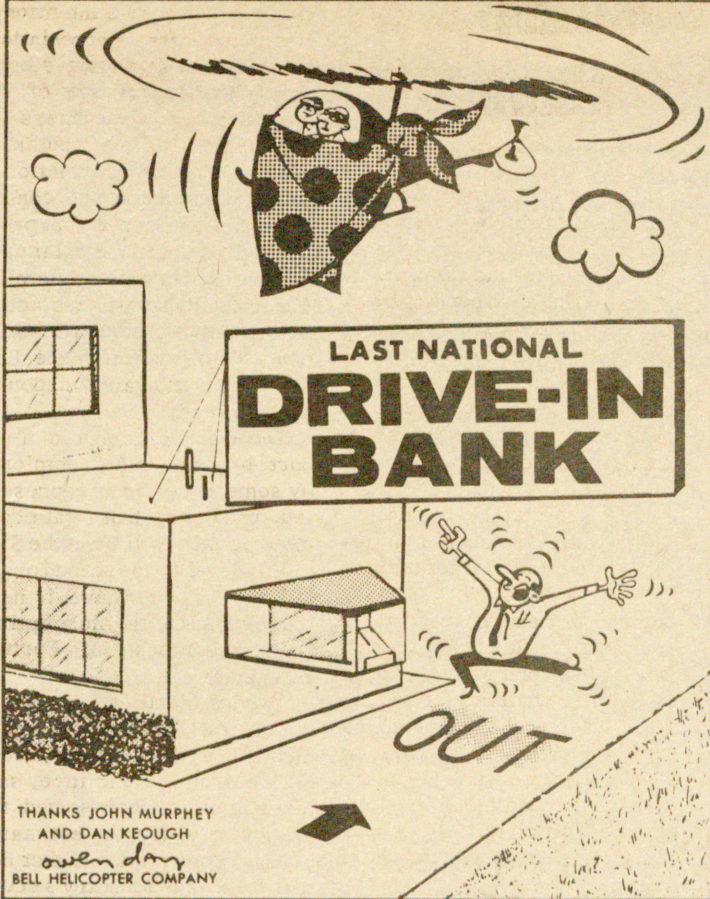

"What the deuce is a grand jury?" asks Harry.

"Don't you know the difference between a grand jury and a petit jury?" says Frank. "Let me explain it to you. The petit jury is the jury with which we are all familiar, composed of 12 persons. In criminal cases the petit jury's job is to determine whether the defendant is guilty or innocent. In civil cases the petit jury's usual function is to decide whether the plaintiff is entitled to money damages from the defendant, and if so, in what amount."

"The grand jury has a much different function," continues Frank. "It is composed of 23 persons. These people are selected from the same list and at the same time as the petit jurors, but the grand jury deals only with criminal matters. When the state's attorney has evidence that a person has committed a major crime, called a 'felony', he must produce his evidence in a secret proceeding before the grand jury. The person suspected is not present, and often does not even know about the proceeding. The state's attorney may subpoena witnesses and produce whatever documentary evidence he has. If 12 of the 23 grand jurors believe there is probable cause to believe the person has committed a crime, they vote what is called a 'true bill', and an indictment is drawn up containing the charge lodged against the accused," added Frank.

"The accused, or as he is now called, the defendant, is brought they do that now and then to preserve their best image with the public.

Let some columnist say the same things about ordinary folks and he will be lucky just to wind up in court.

One of the most difficult columns to write is one devoted to confining comment or observations to a paragraph. The late Will Rogers was a paragrapher. Most of the paragraphers today are likely to wind up as gag writers for the movies or TV.

One can get off a nifty now and then but to produce a daily column or even a weekly one built in this manner is not only a chore but it takes a certain knack.

Here on the desk is column of paragraphs. There are 18 of them and each one came from a different paper. We do not intend to reproduce all of them here but there are some you may like...

"Never have so many people lived so well so far behind before," says Frieda Monger, in Duluth and Mrs. Gary Hiott, of Pickens, S. C. observed that "poverty may not be a disgrace but name a time when it was used as a testimonial of ability."

Try it on your own piano. Try summing up a situation, a condition, a philosophy in a dozen or so words -- then write around 18 of them if you are going to run a full column -- all right knock off 10 of them a day, every day, week in and week out... and see how it goes.

"Life may begin at 40," writes A. W. Balzer, Iron River, Wis., "but so does arthritis, lumbago and the habit of telling a story three times to the same group."

... and Fred W. Grown, Edgewater, N. J. says a good word for the modern home-maker. "Grandma may have worked harder," he says, "but she never had to clean a swimming pool..." and economics also are treated. "The trouble with golf," says B. J. Dahl of Chewelah, Wash., "is that by the time you can afford to lose a ball you can't hit it that far."

"Laboring under the idea that the world owes you a living is the kind of work that doesn't pay," one learns from Kenny Bennett of Greencastle, Ind., and Harold Blaschko of Arcadia, Wis., says "mamma says that keeping house is like threading beads on string with no knot at the end."

While S. E. Mekeel of Ovid, N. Y., points out that "people who are parents of handsome, brilliant children are believers in heredity..." and on the homey side from James P. Howard of Albany, Ore., "One can always tell when the home includes a child and a dog," he says. "The screen door bulges in the appropriate places..." Experience is a great teacher, opines Lee Batchelor of Sauk Rapids, Minn. "A man," he goes on, "never wakes up his second baby to see it smile..." and N. DeVane Williams of Bonifay, Fla., warns "the wrong way to make an impression is on another driver's fender..." while this observation of life in a city comes from Dick Hurley of Buena Park, Calif. "Natives who beat drums to drive off evil spirits are objects of scorn to smart American motorists who blow horns to break up traffic jams."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A BRIEF FOR THE TAXPAYER Dear Sir:

I don't usually write articles to newspapers, in fact this is my first; but the one written by a L. W. freshman of your May 10 edition did me a slow burn. This article seems to reflect a very warped and twisted viewpoint and is quite incongruous to a freshman in high school. I can't imagine a fourteen year old spouting quotations from the Bible unless he is some kind of a fanatic. Fanatics are usually found in the older groups, certainly not 14 year olds.

This youngster hasn't had to worry about taxes yet, and those taxes being increased year after year. She hasn't been limited to a social security check and a pittance of a pension as her only source of income and then have to pay out taxes from that besides a living.

I think our taxation system is

READ RUTH 1: 14-18; MATTHEW 7: 15-20 By their fruit ye shall know them. (Matthew 7:20.)

The above saying is ideally illustrated in the Apostle Paul's remembrance that Timothy's unfeigned faith dwelt first in his grandmother Lois and in his mother Eunice. To my continuing wonder, I note regularly in my own church, and in others I visit from time to time, that there are generally two women to one man in the regular Sunday congregation.

Like the women of the Bible, women of the present day are, as a rule, more earnest in spiritual outlook. Like "waiting Mary" and "bustling Martha," they energetically use their talents in many ways to serve God and their fellowmen.

Ruth's devotion to God shines eternally bright in the lives of David and her other famous descendants. Esther exhibited greatness in relieving the distress of her fellow Jews thru her influence on a great king of Persia. The devotion of the women mentioned in the New Testament is well illustrated by the going of "Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre" on the first Easter morning.

PRAYER: Father in heaven, we are inspired by the works of faith of famous women mentioned in the Bible. May their examples serve to strengthen our faith. In Jesus' name. Amen.

quite obsolete, and only a much needed change now at hand. A mer... made of Daniel Boone... advised to "Go West" when there was no room. A study of the decline of the Roman empire should be made to see what happened to that era because of excessive taxation. Why should the people who own property be the ones to be penalized for the education of our young people. I think that tax should be removed from the real estate tax and a more equitable tax levied on EVERY wage earner to cover the cost of education. I think some of the frills and the unnecessary extras could be eliminated and the more important things be taken care of, such as more money for our teachers. With better pay, we could get better qualified teachers. You get only what you pay for, nothing more. She mentions that if recreation isn't provided for them by the school, they will resort to "home made fun" such as drinking, racing, daring, etc. What duties do the parents have in providing the needs of their child? The responsibility of raising decent kids is the responsibility of the PARENTS and NOT the schools nor the citizens. There are too many parents shirking their duties as a parent by shifting the blame for everything his child does wrong on the school. This is the same sort of logic a grown up would use in saying that if society doesn't provide him with the things he wants, he will be a criminal. It all amounts to the same thing. The people of New Lenox didn't defeat the bond issue because of the junior college issue. They are sick and tired of taxes! This is happening all over the United States, they can't all be having junior college issues. We want our youngsters educated but we want to live too, or least to eat. FED-UP

Washington News Letter

CONG. N.M., MASON HOW FEDERAL TAXES GROW: The mid-April federal tax deadline drove home to most American taxpayers one fact -- federal taxes have grown by leaps and bounds. Federal tax increases are best shown by the following figures:

In 1940 total federal taxes collected were $5 billion.

In 1950 total federal taxes collected were $36 billion.

In 1960 total federal taxes collected were $77 billion.

In 1963 total federal taxes collected will be $93 billion.

These figures show that in the short period of 23 years, our federal taxes have increased 1600 per cent.

Federal taxes are levied to collect money to operate the government; to redistribute wealth; and to discourage the sale and use of certain injurious commodities such as liquor and tobacco.

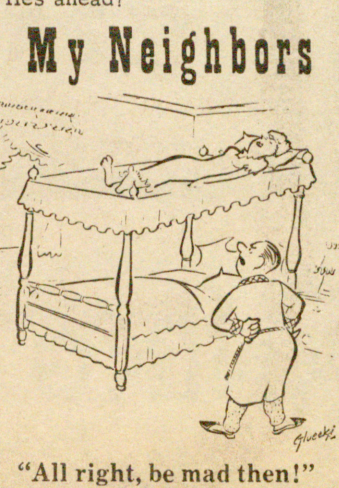

The proposal by the present administration included in this year's tax bill, H. R. 10650, to grant tax credits to industry when they invest in new machinery, is nothing but a "gimmick" or tax inequity to be added to a tax law that is already full of tax gimmicks and tax inequities.

A sound proposal to stimulate factory and machinery modernization and promote production efficiency would be to shorten the "depreciation write-off time" to conform to the depreciation write-off time that prevails in Europe with whose factories our industries now have to compete. That was the Republican tax proposal offered in the committee on ways and means but defeated by a partisan vote.

Henry J. Taylor tells our Fort Knox gold situation. "President Kennedy did not create the problem. But New Frontier policies have aggravated and compounded the crisis enormously. Our gold on hand has fallen to $16.6 billion. The law requires $11.5 billion of gold behind our dollar. This leaves only $5.1 billion to meet foreign demands. European central banks and other foreigners now own $18 billion (net) of short-term claims, payable in gold on demand. All gold legally behind the U. S. dollar has been mortgaged and $6.5 billion more besides. The gold claims against us are $1.4 billion more than even the total stored here."

THEN AND NOW: One hundred years ago, when we were in the midst of the Civil War, the Federal government was spending a million dollars every 12 1/4 hours. Sounds high?? Under the $92.5 billion budget proposed for the 1962-63 fiscal year, the U. S. government plans to spend a million dollars every five minutes and forty seconds! The current trend of government spending is 127 times as fast as 100 years ago. In fiscal 1862-63 the federal government spent a total of $1.3 billion -- a record that

Start Survey for Phase 2 of Fallout Shelter Plan

Will county and southern Cook county will be surveyed for Phase Two of the fallout shelter program by the Chicago firm of A. Epstein and Sons, Inc. Award of the new contract was announced today by Col. J.A. Smedile, Chicago Army District Engineer.

Six townships of southern Cook county are provided for by the contract: Lemont, Orland, Bremen, Thornton, Rich and Bloom.

The same area was surveyed by A. Epstein under its initial Phase One assignment.

In Phase Two the firm will mark selected shelters which were inventoried during the first phase, determine the cost of improving certain shelter areas, and survey special facilities.

The entire state of Illinois has now been surveyed for Phase One by civilian architect-engineer firms, under Army Engineer contracts.

The state remains divided into seven geographical areas and seven civilian firms will be awarded contracts for the survey. In turn, they are expected to engage other concerns to assist in the work.

No further inspection is to be made of areas which have a protection factor of less than 39, Colonel Smedile explained. During Phase One, all potential

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

For quite some time there has been a persistent rumor that the government was to announce a revision of the income tax rates which would permit industry to charge depreciation, for income tax purposes, at a rate that is nearer what industry thinks is the realistic rate and one which will permit them to replace equipment at a rate which will keep our production equipment at top level.

The announcement of a decision to allow larger depreciation rates came on Friday during a meeting of what is known as the Business Council, held at Hot Springs, Va. Roger M. Blough, chairman of the U.S. Steel is also chairman of this group of leading industrialists. The meetings of this group are usually attended by leading government officials. This year there were greater numbers of top level government officials than usual. Mr. Blough said that the treasury's intention to liberalize its depreciation rules, is a promising step in improving the climate of co-operation between business and government. The business council announced formation of a small committee to consult with the government on problems concerning the balance of payments between countries. The council has started action in seeking ways of promoting foreign investment in the U.S. as an offset against expenditures abroad.

The council listened to a report by economists employed by some of the firms represented, predicting that total economic activity will be at the $575 billion level in the second quarter of 1963 - this level is near that of some of the more optimistic predictions of Fortune magazine.

Charles Mortimer, chairman of General Foods Corp. and a member of the Business Council's economic committee, said these figures represented the mid-point of varying estimates by the economists and that actual trend of the country's economy in 1963 will depend on consumer confidence.

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, was somewhat deprecating of the economists prediction for the second half of 1963 by remarking that he doubted if the economists themselves regarded the projection too highly. Mr. Funston also remarked that the stock market decline had evidenced diminishing investor confidence, but that he and his associates do not consider the decline with alarm.

The news has also brought a statement from Eric Erickson, vice president of Keystone Funds which have total assets of $782 million on March 31, 1962 which is a rise from $774 million at the close of 1961. Keystone Funds is one of the largest Mutual Fund groups. On an over all basis of all 11 of the funds, its investments are 70 per cent common stock and 30 per cent bonds and preferred stock. He noted that one of funds with preference for preferred stocks, had decided to strengthen its holdings of better grade rails and oils. In the speculative field he expressed preference for some of the copper and textile shares.

Mr. Erickson also noted that any cut in corporate taxes or more favorable depreciation allowances, would result in a quick change in evaluation of common stocks. He stated the fund is fully invested.

Mountain driving needn't be much more dangerous than plains driving. It seems more frightening than it really is, because its dangers are more obvious, according to Captain Byron Orr of the Colorado state patrol. If you follow a few common sense rules, you'll have no difficulty, Captain Orr writes in the spring issue of Home & Highway, the magazine of the Allstate Insurance Co.

Most mountain accidents occur, he says, because a driver fails to stay on the right side of the road. Some tourists, especially on their first mountain trip get jittery when they look out into space and see nothing but a thousand-foot drop. They edge away from the drop off side and unwittingly cross over the center line, and thus may cause a bad accident.

Another common-and sometimes fatal-fault is for a mountain driver to give way to the temptation to look at the scenery. But you can literally get too wrapped up in the scenery if you do this at the wrong time. If you want to see the mountains - and what driver doesn't? - park your car well off the road, preferably in a roadside parking area.

The Allstate publication lists a number of suggestions for motorists in the mountains: Before you leave home have a mechanic check your radiator, brakes, windshield wipers and tires, including a usable spare.

Pay strict attention to speed limit signs, and for better control, use the lower gears when descending a hill. This will save your brakes and, possibly your neck.

Never follow another car too closely. Watch out for rocks, especially in marked slide areas and after heavy rains.

When meeting others cars on narrow roads, remember the car going uphill has the right of way.

Acclimatize yourself gradually. Lack of oxygen should not bother you below 10,000 feet, but be alert for the danger signs: deeper breathing, faster pulse, hand tremor and sleepiness.

Be especially cautious on gravel roads. Carry a snow shovel, chains and some extra heavy warm

Mites, Aphids are Tough Foes, Area Gardeners Find

A pair of pests found in virtually every garden and on nearly every kind of plant life spell endless trouble for the gardener unless kept under close control. In a world of voracious eaters, aphids and mites are among the greediest.

Besides causing anguish to the gardener, these two have a good deal in common. Both attack a wide variety of food and ornamental crops; both damage plants by sucking vital juices; both are tiny, but pack a powerful punch.

The mite, which every summer produces a population explosion of its own, was difficult to control until plant scientists found a way to overcome its natural resistance to chemical insecticides a few years ago.

Unlike chewing insects which are killed by stomach poisons, the mite must be controlled by contact sprays. But this tiny character has a built-in "early warning" device which in the presence of certain chemicals immediately closes the mite's tiny breathing valves. Scientists now outsmart the mighty mite by adding camouflage chemicals which do not trigger the pest's danger-detecting apparatus.

Mites, of which there are several varieties, appear under a magnifying glass as minute, eight-legged dots of varying colors. Spider mites (named for their kink which they resemble) are the species most often encountered.

Mite injury is distinctive and easily recognized. The green coloring matter of plants - chlorophyll - is destroyed wherever mites insert their mouth parts to suck out plant juices. Leaves assume a mottled or stippled appearance and soon turn yellow or brown. The spider mite, incidentally, has a strange appetite for rose leaves low in nitrogen content.

The other member of this plant diseases. Aphids, also known as plant lice, are soft-bodied, slow-moving insects, usually green in color. About the size of a pinhead or a little larger, aphids usually cluster at the end of new stem growth, at the base of buds, or underneath leaves. Although they seldom kill a plant, they can rob it of vigor and beauty. The damage they do shows up in blighted buds, misshapen fruit or blossoms, curled and discolored foliage. There are sprays for this creature based on malathion insecticide.

Tax Case Going to Supreme Court

(CNS) Cook County Circuit Court Judge Charles Dougherty has ruled Friday that collection of personal property taxes is within the jurisdiction of justice of the peace courts but has strongly recommended an appeal to the state supreme court. In making his ruling Dougherty issued a mandamus order directing Leland H. Rayson, of Tinley Park, a Bremen township justice, to accept such cases.

Rayson, acting under an appellate court ruling in a Will county case, that such cases are in the exclusive jurisdiction of the county courts, has refused to prosecute 25 personal property cases assigned to him by State's Attorney Daniel Ward.

Rayson and his attorney, Joseph Brunswick of Blue Island, plan an immediate appeal of Dougherty's ruling.

Altho he ruled against Rayson, Dougherty said he believes the question of constitutionality was properly raised.

"It ought to be decided (by the supreme court) once and for all," he said. He pointed out that unless personal property tax cases can be assigned to justice courts efforts of the state's attorney's office to collect them will "fall of their own weight."

Thomas Hett, assistant state's attorney, contended that personal property taxes should be regarded as a "collection in debt" and therefore come under the jurisdiction of the justice courts where the amount is less than $1,000.

"Once the tax is assessed, that's all it is — a personal debt," he said.
Assistant State's Attorney Raymond Plusdrak said he does not plan to begin assigning tax courts while Dougherty's decision is being appealed.

DISTRICT 230 VOTES ON SECOND HIGH SCHOOL SATURDAY, MAY 26

PROPOSED HIGH SCHOOL

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

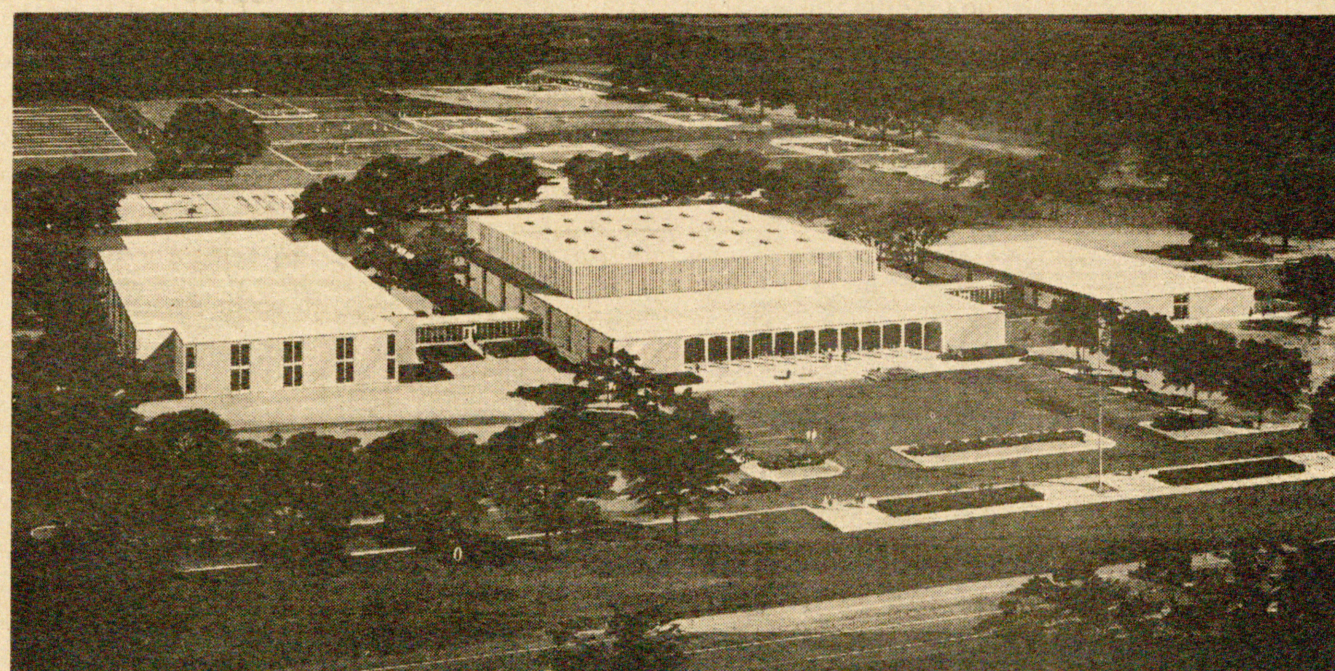

CONSOLIDATED HIGH SCHOOL

DISTRICT NO. 230

WILLIAM O. FISHER, Supt.

C. E. McBURNEY, President

GERTRUDE McGOWAN, Secretary

Architects, Schmidt, Garden & Erikson

THE DISTRICT 230 STORY

In 1952 the citizens voted to establish a high school for Orland and Palos Townships. At that time there were 400 students.

In 1955 an addition to Carl Sandburg High School was approved. At that time there were 687 students. This addition increased the capacity to 1500 students.

In 1958 the citizens approved a second addition to Carl Sandburg High School. This addition, completed in 1961, increased the capacity to 2000.

For the 1961-62 school year, 1542 students are enrolled at Carl Sandburg High School. The registrations for the 1962 term beginning in September already exceed 1760 and the projected enrollment for the fall of 1963 indicates that Carl Sandburg High School will be filled to capacity during the 1963-64 school year.

Additional facilities must be ready by Sept. 1964 when some 2200 students will be enrolled in high school in our school district.

The Board of Education considers the development of three high schools in the district, with an enrollment of approximately 2,000 students each, a most satisfactory goal. The proposed building on 111th Street will have a capacity of 1000 and, barring a rapid upsurge in home construction, should meet the needs of the district until 1969.

WHAT WILL IT COST YOU

YOUR SCHOOL BOARD proposes to finance the second high school by issuing $2,100,000 in bonds payable over a twenty-year period.

If you approve this program, the bonds will be sold through competitive bidding in installments as the money is needed to finance the construction.

The following table shows the rapid increase in assessed valuation of the school district, bonds sold, and the tax rate necessary to pay principal and interest:

Year	Assessed Valuation	Bonds Sold	Tax Rate for Bonds and Interest*
1953	$23,041,000	$900,000	$0.28
1954	25,552,000	-0-	.27
1955	32,486,000	-0-	.21
1956	37,214,000	750,000	.31
1957	43,580,000	275,000	.33
1958	48,167,314	50,000	.31
1959	62,959,148	675,000	.32
1960	67,221,815	360,000	.36
1961	71,144,000	-0-	.33
1962	$75,000,000 (est.)	-0-	.30 (est.)

*Cents per $100 of assessed valuation

Although the district has issued $3,010,000 of bonds, the tax rate for bonds has increased only two cents from 1953 to 1962. The sale of the $2,100,000 proposed bond issue over a period of two and one half years will, as the construction continues, increase taxes less than $10.00 per year on property assessed at $10,000.00.

The enrollment chart shows that the number of high school students attending Carl Sandburg High School has grown from 525 in Sept. 1954 to 1776 in Sept. 1962, an increase of 238%.

The graph also indicates that by Sept. 1969 there will be a minimum of 2700 students attending high school, a growth of 52% from Sept. 1962 to Sept. 1969.

Why the prediction of continued growth? There are three reasons: (1) the high post war birth rate, (2) the continued exodus of people from the city of Chicago, and (3) the construction of the expressway system to the loop from the suburbs. It is expected that the Southwest Expressway will be completed to the southwestern suburbs in late 1964 or early 1965, and this added means of transportation should cause an additional surge of home construction in Orland and Palos Townships, one of the few areas left in Cook County with land available for construction purposes.

The total high school enrollment should continue to increase at a minimum rate of 10% per year for an indefinite period.

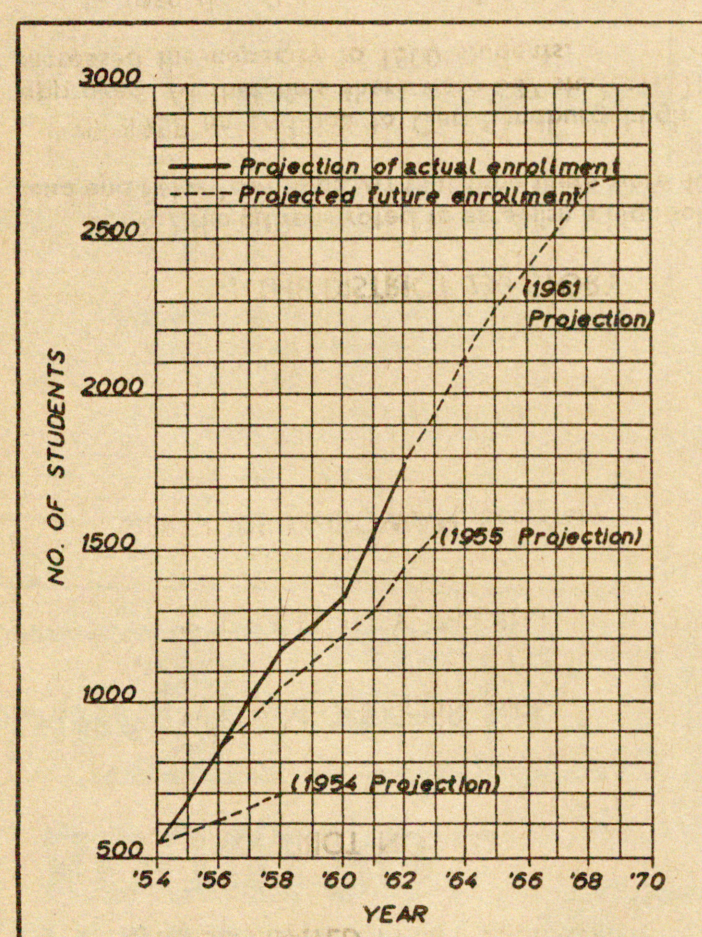

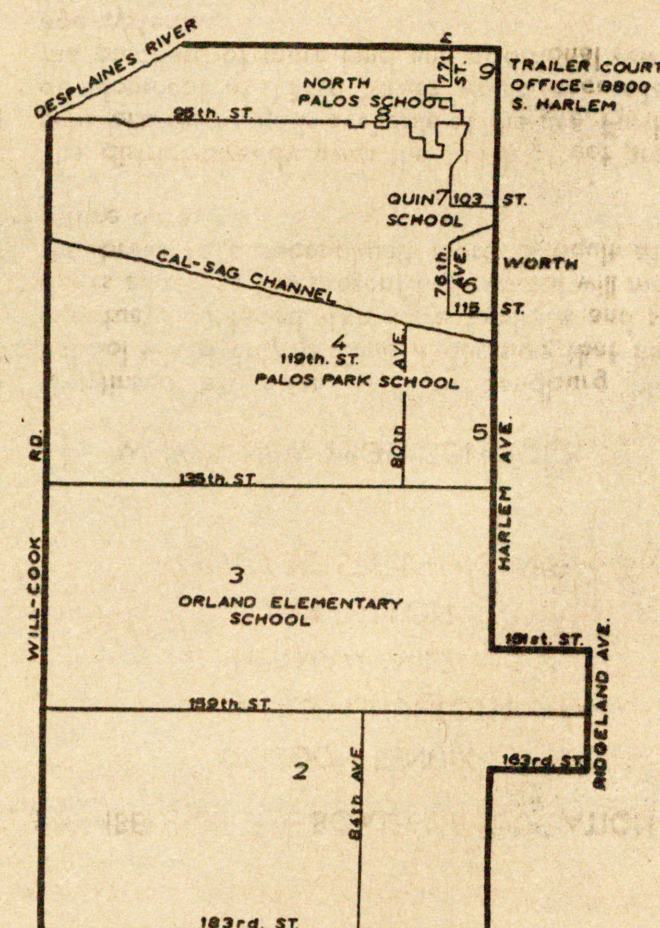

The total enrollment will exceed 6000 before 1980.

WHO WILL ATTEND THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL?

The proposed school will service that part of the school district north of Route 83. It is expected that 9th graders or 9th and 10th graders north of Route 83 would be enrolled in the proposed school in 1964 and a class a year added until the 1967-68 school year when all four years will be in the new school. It is expected that between 900-1000 students will be enrolled at the new school in the 1968-69 school year. If it is necessary to adjust the boundary line for a short period, no elementary school district would be divided. For example, if the boundary line needed to be temporarily shifted south, all graduates of Palos Park District 118 would be moved to the new school for one year, kept together and shifted to Carl Sandburg at the beginning of their sophomore year to finish school.

Who May Vote:

Every person above the age of twenty-one years, who is a citizen of the United States, having resided in this state one year, in the county ninety days and in the school district thirty days next preceding the date of election, and who will sign an affidavit affirming these facts.

From 12 Noon to 7:00 p.m.
